

BRT FORTRESS

Security · Mobility

Private banking is a business based on relationships. The data and decisions your firm makes are no longer the property of the company, but of the client. In a world dominated by regulation, risk management and performance, communicating with and reassuring clients is priority number one.

BRT S.A. has developed a next generation private banking interface, designed for both individual and institutional investors to gain secure and mobile access to their portfolio data.

Anywhere Anytime

Mobile

The simple and easy to navigate HTML5 interface extends the managers high touch relationship to a 24/7, dynamic service.

The principal driver of this development was the increased requirement for multichannel engagement with the end client.

Flexible

The firm will always control what the client can and can't access. Each version is also installed and configured with BRT guiding the soft and hard infrastructure from start to finish, with the ability to design and integrate a vast array of customised widgets and components. We also white label the product, and brand it using the investment manager's livery and design, giving a seamlessly homogenised client offering in terms of look and feel.

Secure

BRT's business knowledge and technological expertise has combined to create an extraordinarily functional and secure product. Thanks to market leading identity frameworks, the usability of the product is never compromised, while still offering multiple levels of security, two factor authentications and the latest in data encryption.
